

Managing and Coaching in Youth Justice Course Guide

About this course

This blended learning course is designed to enable managers to have a critical overview of policy developments regarding staff development within the sector.

- Explore policy developments within Youth Justice.
- Explore what it takes to be a successful manager and coach.
- Develop skills to become a 'work-based coach'.
- Explore and practice coaching skills.

What will I study?

During this course you will explore:

- Public Sector Management
- Reforming the Workforce
- Evidence-Based Implementation
- Learners and Learning
- Coaching for Effective Practice

Assessments

You will be assessed through computer marked assignments and a range of written assignments, including:

- Case Studies
- Reflective Accounts

Fees and Duration

30 weeks

Course fees – £2,100 inc. VAT

- Includes two lots of two-day workshops held at the University of Suffolk.

Contact us

If you would like further information, please contact:

E: contact@unitas.uk.net
T: 01603 570365
W: <https://unitas.uk.net/>

Course Delivery and Support

Your experience as a student is important to both Unitas and the University of Suffolk, as such this course has been designed to enable you to explore your course subject, develop your own knowledge and skills, and prepare for your future.

- Digital study materials are available online and downloadable as apps.
- You can read our materials, listen to audio and watch videos on your smartphone or tablet when and where you choose.
- 2 x two-day interactive workshops held at University of Suffolk that enables you to develop and practice the skills required.
- Course content is broken down into 'bite size learning blocks' relating to specific areas of Management & Coaching.
- Each learning block introduces the topic area and guides activities through the digital resources to successfully achieve the assessment requirements.
- Formative assessments are used to enable you to reflect upon your own learning journey.
- A Learning Coach will provide you with developmental feedback and support throughout the course.
- You will have full access to University of Suffolk Library.

Entry Criteria

Unitas offers transformational learning opportunities for anyone who wishes to learn more about or work in the youth and criminal justice systems.

We have an open learning approach so that anyone regardless of age or educational experience can successfully complete our courses and degrees – no prior qualifications are required, only motivation. But to us open learning also means affordable learning – our degrees are half the cost of their equivalents elsewhere. Flexibility is essential for mature students and is integral to our courses.

All applications are considered on an individual basis so please contact us if you would like to discuss the course further.